EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Order)

Section 4(1) and (2) of the Education Reform Act 1988 places a duty on the Secretary of State to establish the National Curriculum by specifying by order such attainment targets, programmes of study and assessment arrangements as he considers appropriate for each of the foundation subjects.

This Order, which applies only to schools in Wales, revokes and replaces the Education (National Curriculum) (Assessment Arrangements for English, Welsh, Mathematics and Science) (Key Stage 2) (Wales) Order 1994. The Order specifies the assessment arrangements for pupils studying “the relevant subjects” of the National Curriculum in the final year of the second key stage. “The relevant subjects” are English, Welsh, mathematics and science.

The main changes from the 1994 Order are in article 6 which provides for the determination of levels of attainment in the relevant subjects using levels in each attainment target as determined by teacher assessment. Under the new provisions, a pupil’s level of attainment is, in English, the average of his levels in each AT; in Welsh, the average of his levels in each AT, but with his level in AT1 (oral) weighted by a factor of 4, and his levels in AT2 (reading) and AT3 (writing) each weighted by a factor of 3; and in mathematics and science the average of his attainment in each AT with, respectively, his level in AT2 (number and algebra) and AT1 (experimental and investigative science) weighted by a factor of 2.
