- (a) is processed by or on behalf of the governing body of, or a teacher at, any school specified in paragraph (3);

Duties of head teacher-curricular records

Duties of head teacher-educational records

5.—(1) Within fifteen school days of receiving a written request by a parent for disclosure of a pupil’s educational record, the head teacher of a maintained school and of a special school not maintained by a local education authority must make it available for inspection, free of charge, to the parent.

(2) Within fifteen school days of receiving a written request by a parent for a copy of a pupil’s educational record, the head teacher of such a school must give the parent a copy of it on payment of such fee (not exceeding the cost of supply), if any, as the governing body may prescribe.

(3) In every case where the pupil is under consideration for admission to another school (including an independent school) or to an institution of further education or any other place of education or training, the head teacher must transfer the pupil’s educational record to the responsible person, free of charge, if that person so requests, within fifteen school days of receiving the request.

(4) The record supplied under paragraph (3) must not include the results of any assessment of the pupil’s achievements.

(9) This definition of “educational record” is the same as the one contained in Schedule 11 to the Data Protection Act 1998 (c. 29).

(5) When complying with a request for disclosure or a copy of a pupil's educational record under paragraph (1), (2) or (3) of this regulation, a head teacher must not disclose any documents which are subject to any order under section 30(2) of the Data Protection Act 1998(10).

Transfer of information when a pupil changes school

6.—(1) In this regulation “common transfer information” (“gwybodaeth drosglwyddo gyffredin”) means the information listed in Schedule 1.

(2) Where this regulation requires information to be transferred in machine readable form, that requirement may be met by transferring the information—

- (a) through a secure internet website provided for that purpose by or on behalf of the National Assembly,
- (b) by floppy disk, or
- (c) through an intranet provided for that purpose by or on behalf of a local education authority, and for the purposes of this regulation an intranet means a closed network that can only be accessed—
 - (i) by the local education authority,
 - (ii) by or on behalf of a governing body of a school within that authority,
 - (iii) by a teacher at a school within that authority, save that where a pupil transfers to a maintained school maintained by another local education authority the requirement must be met by transferring the information through a secure internet website provided for that purpose by or on behalf of the National Assembly.

(3) Subject to paragraph (8), where a pupil ceases to be a registered pupil at a maintained school (the “old school”) and becomes a registered pupil at another school (the “new school”), the pupil's common transfer information and educational record must be transferred to the head teacher of the new school within fifteen school days after the day on which the pupil ceases to be registered at the old school.

(4) The information and record referred to in paragraph (3) must be transferred by the head teacher of the old school or, where this has been agreed between that head teacher and the local education authority, that authority.

(5) The common transfer information must be transferred in machine readable form.

(6) The educational record may be transferred in machine readable form or in paper form or in a combination of both forms.

(7) Where it is not reasonably practicable for the head teacher of the old school to ascertain the pupil's new school, or where the head teacher is aware that the pupil is moving to a school other than a maintained school in Wales or England, the requirements in paragraphs (3) and (4) of this regulation do not apply but the head teacher of the old school must transfer the common transfer information to a secure internet website provided for that purpose by or on behalf of the National Assembly.

(8) Where a pupil has been registered at a maintained school for less than four weeks, it is to be sufficient compliance for the purposes of paragraphs (3) and (4) if the head teacher of that school or, where applicable, the local education authority transfers such information and record as they have received under this regulation from the school at which the pupil was previously registered in the form in which it was received by them.

(9) For the purposes of paragraph (8), the reference in paragraph (3) to “fifteen school days” is a reference to the number of days after the day on which the pupil ceases to be registered at the school in question or to the number of days after the information and record have been received by the head teacher of that school, whichever is the later.

(10) If the head teacher of a pupil's old school receives a request from the head teacher of the school at which the pupil is currently a registered pupil, either for the common transfer information relating to the time when the pupil left the old school or for any educational record relating to that pupil in the old school's possession, the head teacher must provide it within fifteen school days of receiving the request.

(11) If a pupil arrives at a new maintained school without his or her common transfer information or details of his or her old school being available, the head teacher of the new school must contact the local education authority which maintains the new school to request a search of the secure internet website provided by or on behalf of the National Assembly for the pupil's common transfer information.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations replace with changes provisions formerly contained in the Education (Individual Pupils' Achievements) (Information) (Wales) Regulations 1997 as amended and the Education (Pupil Records) (Wales) Regulations 2001. They provide for the keeping by the head teacher of records about the academic achievements, the skills and abilities and progress (curricular records) of a pupil at a school maintained by a local education authority and a special school not so maintained (regulation 4).

They also make provision for the disclosure and transfer by the head teacher of educational records (as defined in regulation 3) to parents and schools to which pupils are under consideration for transfer (regulation 5). Regulation 6 sets out the contents of the report that the head teacher of the old school is required to send the head teacher of the new school once the pupil has transferred to the new school.

The Regulations also make provision as to the report the head teacher is required to send to parents and adult pupils each school year (regulation 7) and the additional information parents of registered pupils who are assessed in any key stage may request relating to the pupil's levels of achievements in relevant subjects (regulation 8). Regulation 9 prescribes the information the head teacher must make available in the reports given to school leavers. Regulation 10 sets out certain restrictions on the provision of information.

Where requisite, any document or information required to be made available under the Regulations must be translated into English or Welsh or another language (regulation 11).

The Education (Individual Pupils' Achievements) (Information) (Wales) Regulations 1997 as amended and the Education (Pupil Records) (Wales) Regulations 2001 are revoked (regulation 12).
